

Name _____

Noisy Choking Sound

Story – The little girl is gulping a drink, and she starts to make a noisy choking sound (or gulping sound) “g-g-g.” (The soft sound of G is taught later.)

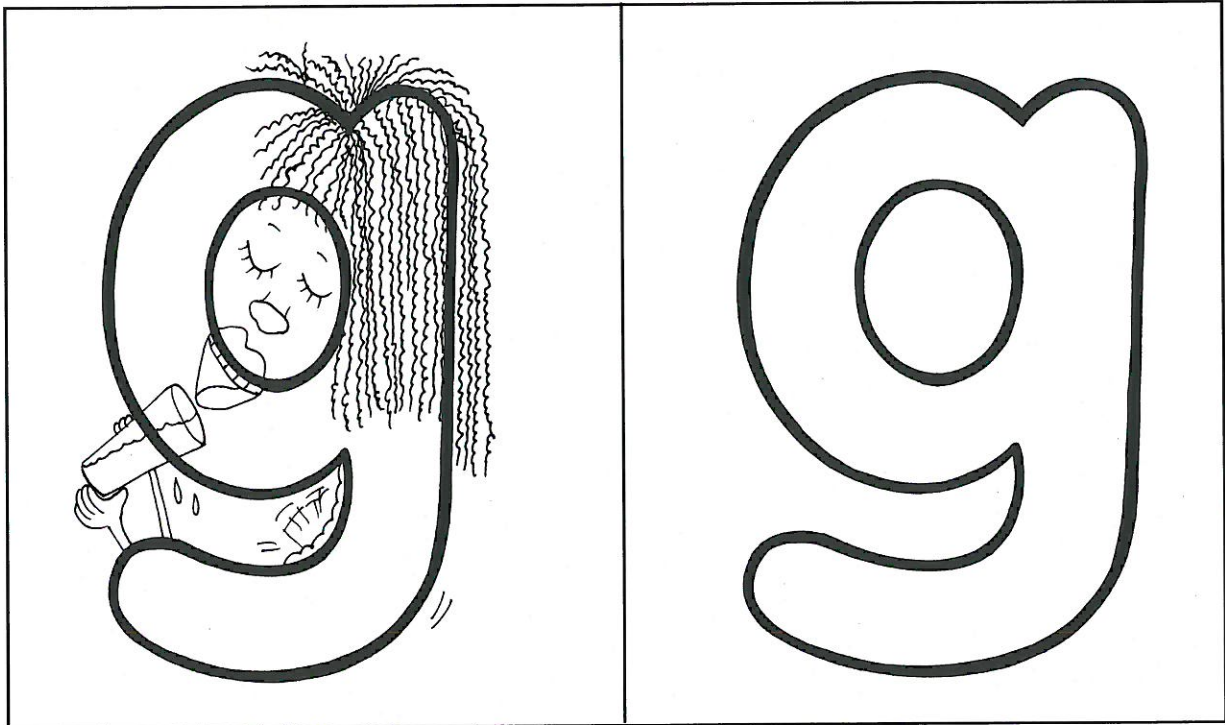

Hand cue: Pretend to be holding a cup and drinking, or put hands on your own neck as if choking.

Name _____

Name _____

_____

-----

_____

-----

_____

--	--

Draw 2 things that begin with this sound.

G – Noisy Choking Sound

“What do you think would be the noisy partner to that choking sound? Let’s turn our voices on while we make that choking sound. ‘G!’ Right! (Show picture.) This little girl is gulping down some grape drink and she’s choking a little on it as she drinks. The girl is making very noisy gulping sounds, ‘G-g-g-g.’ (We are focusing only on the hard sound of G right now; the soft sound will be taught at a later time.) See how her hand comes up to her mouth, holding the glass while she’s gulping? Pretend you’re holding a cup and gulping down your favorite drink while you make that noisy gulping sound like the little girl, ‘G-g-g-g.’”

Hand cue: Pretend to be holding a cup and drinking or put hand on neck as if choking.

Name _____

Choking Sound

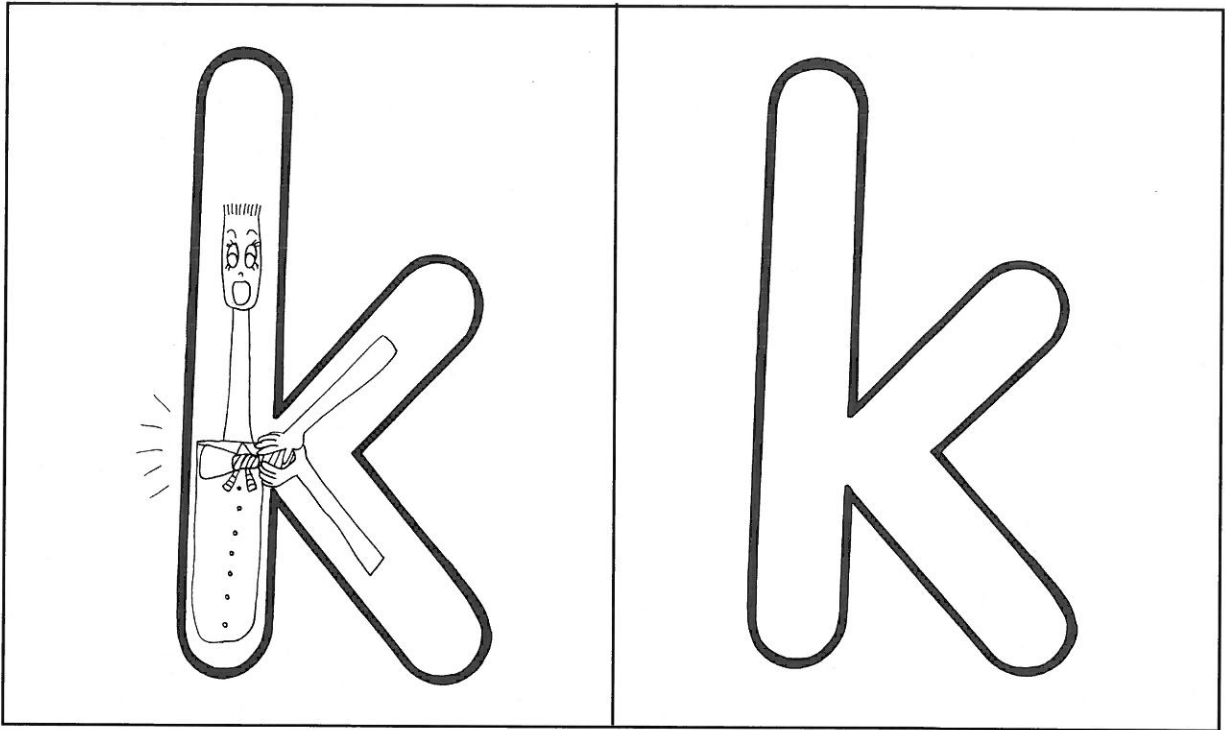

Story – This little boy’s mother is trying to tie his bow tie too tightly, and he starts to make the quiet choking sound “k-k-k.”

Hand cue: Pretend you’re tying a bow tie or put hands on your own neck as if choking.

Name _____

Name _____

_____

-----

_____

-----

--	--

Draw 2 things that begin with this sound.

K – Quiet Choking Sound

“How do we make this sound? ‘K.’ (Student may want to look in a mirror to see where and how this sound is being produced.) What am I doing? ‘K-k-k-k.’ (Lightly put your hands around your throat while making choking sounds.) It almost sounds like I’m choking in the back of my throat, doesn’t it? The back of my tongue is actually scraping in the back of my throat. Try it with me, ‘K-k-k-k.’ Is your voice on or off? Right, it’s the quiet choking sound. (Show picture.) Do you see this little boy with the very long neck? He’s getting ready to go to a big party and his mother’s arms are coming in to tie his bow tie. She’s making it a little too tight and he’s starting to choke a little, making quiet, choking sounds, like this, ‘K-k-k-k.’ Can you make that quiet choking sound?”

Hand cue: Put hands on your neck as if choking.